THE DUKE

Clarence Darrow Tully was a tall, good-looking, and intelligent man. He worked as a reporter at first and eventually became the publisher of two newspapers in Arizona. He was very successful in his career. There was, however, something unusual about Tully that was a secret for a long time.

5 When Clarence Darrow Tully was a young man, he told everyone to call him “Duke.” He copied that name from a famous movie actor, whom Americans liked because he was strong, tough, and brave. Tully wanted to be admired for the same reasons as this actor was. He also believed that men in military uniforms, too, looked strong, tough, and brave. Tully wanted very much to make this impression on others. His desire for 10 this image got stronger and stronger as time went on.

He tried to join the Air Force, but he had poor vision and couldn’t pass the eye test, so he was not accepted. His brother, on the other hand, became a Marine pilot. But he was killed in service two years later. When this happened, Tully began to put his imagination to work: he started to tell his brother’s story as if it was his own. At first, 15 he simply claimed he was in the Air Force. And in time, he got a promotion in his career in the imaginary story of himself: he became a second lieutenant, then a first lieutenant, then a major.

When Tully went to military meetings as a reporter, he would dress in a military uniform. As he became more comfortable with the uniform and his stories about the 20 Air Force, he began to wear medals of honour. This imaginary life got to such a point where Tully himself could not tell the difference between fact and fiction.

As Tully was doing well in his reporting business, people trusted and respected him as a soldier, too. He was always careful and consistent when he talked about his “military” adventures; he told believable stories. By doing this, he deceived everyone 25 for many years.

But then something changed Tully’s whole life. In his newspaper, he published some negative articles about a well-known lawyer of his city. The lawyer became very angry with Tully and he decided to investigate Tully’s personal life. Soon, he discovered that Tully was a liar. He publicized the fact that Tully told untrue stories about himself. In 30 this way, everybody learnt about the real Tully.

Tully immediately admitted being dishonest and resigned from his job. He put himself in the care of a psychiatrist in order to discover why he did this. And the fantasy life style of “Duke” Tully ended.

61. Tully as a young man wanted to be called "Duke" because_____.
- he wanted to be a famous actor
 - it was his name in his articles in the paper
 - it was his desire to become a soldier
 - he wanted to be admired for his bravery
62. Tully couldn't join the Air Force as he_____.
- was working as a journalist
 - couldn't see very well
 - was already a second lieutenant
 - was not strong and brave enough
63. Tully put himself in the place of his brother because he_____.
- liked the image of a military man
 - hated his brother a lot
 - was very sorry for his brother
 - wanted to get a promotion in the army
64. Everybody believed in his military stories because he_____.
- was publishing them in his papers
 - knew many important soldiers
 - was telling realistic stories
 - was using his brother's name
65. When a lawyer discovered the truth about him, Tully_____.
- wrote negative articles about him in the papers
 - accepted something was wrong with himself
 - was sent to a psychiatrist by the lawyer
 - found a job in another newspaper

 - become
68. In line 29, publicize means_____.
- try to change something
 - work for a company
 - make something widely know
 - tell untrue stories about something
69. In line 14, this refers to_____.
- his brother died
 - he was not accepted in the army
 - his brother became a Marine pilot
 - his eyes were not good
70. In line 24, this refers to_____.
- telling logical stories
 - having adventures
 - trusting others
 - deceiving people

LAST CHANCE TO SEE THE WORLD

5 Asa Singleton, 13, sits in his bedroom and smiles as he looks through his holiday photos —photos that tell the moving story of a mother and father's love for their boy. The story is also a breathtaking adventure as it is a race against time: Asa will be blind by the end of the year, so his parents, Paul and Debbie, sold their business to give him the gift they could: to let their son see the world. "We wanted him to have the experience of a lifetime before he loses his sight," says Paul. "And we did it all just in time."

10 Asa was just a few months old when doctors found out that he had been born with NF2. This disease cannot be cured. It begins to cause damage to the nervous system from an early age and it often leads to deafness and blindness. "We'd always planned a dad-and-son world trip when he was 16, but I knew it would be too late by then," says Paul, 46. "So Debbie and I made the decision that we should start traveling as soon as possible."

15 "It was rather risky because of Asa's condition," says Paul. "At home, his poor eyesight wasn't such a big problem because he knew where everything was; he could easily move from one room to another all by himself and find everything he needed. Away from home, in strange places, things wouldn't be that easy for him. Asa wasn't really frightened about going to so many different places, but of course, he was a little nervous. But as soon as we arrived at our first destination, Paris, and saw the Eiffel Tower, we forgot our fears. We were at the beginning of an amazing, life-changing journey and we were so excited about the rest of it." From France, they traveled to Germany, Italy, Cyprus and then Egypt.

20 "A guide took us to the top of a Pyramid, and the view was spectacular. We could see the desert going on forever," says Paul. "In Japan, we went to Mount Fuji and stayed in a traditional Japanese hotel. It was fascinating although Asa wasn't too impressed with their famous dish, sushi, which we had for dinner. We traveled on the underground in Tokyo, which was quite scary for Asa with his poor sight, but he was determined to try it."

25 In Hawaii, they did a couple of exciting things like whale watching, but that was not the favourite part of the journey; Asa was willing to see James Bond Island, where the James Bond film, The Man with the Golden Gun, was shot. "Asa is a huge James Bond fan, so there was no way he could continue our journey without seeing it," says Paul.

30 Paul was very surprised at his son's courage; he was fearless although he couldn't see properly. "All his life, he's deliberately taken on hard physical challenges and I've always admired this characteristic of him," says Paul. "But I was terrified when he said he wanted to go skydiving over the Great Barrier Reef when we got to Australia. I jumped first and kept looking behind me until I saw his parachute open. He was absolutely fine, and he loved every second of it. He was so proud of himself."

35 Asa also enjoyed the quiet moments of the trip. "Our longest stop was New Zealand, where we celebrated Christmas. We hired a camper van and spent a month sleeping under the stars in Auckland," says Paul.

Next stop was the USA. Paul and Asa stayed a few days at a ranch near the Grand Canyon and went on to visit Las Vegas, Dallas, New Orleans and take a boat trip down the Mississippi River. Then their travel ended in Florida, where they met up with mum, Debbie and Asa's sister, Dominique for a holiday together. Finally, they all went to Toronto, Canada to catch the flight home.

40 When Asa had his next hospital checks, the news wasn't good. His eyesight has deteriorated rapidly, and Asa will soon be registered blind. Paul says: "I am happy that we didn't wait any longer and Asa has had the experience of a lifetime."

71. Why did Asa's parents arrange a round-the-world trip for him?
- They wanted him to see the world before he lost his eyesight.
 - They had sold their business and wanted to spend the money on their son.
 - They wanted to share an experience with him while he was younger.
 - They thought the journey might improve his medical condition.
72. People with NF2 _____.
- go blind at a very old age
 - are usually deaf from birth
 - can get better in time
 - often lose their sight and hearing
73. Asa's parents were worried before the trip because _____.
- Asa himself was afraid to go on the trip
 - traveling would make his eyesight worse
